BLOODY BATTLE RAGED TWO DAYS

Reported That the Russians
Were Defeated Yesterday.

The Battle Was One of the Most of the War in the Far East.

NO DETAILS YET RECEIVED

Tokio, August 2.—After two days' fighting General Kuroki yesterday defeated the Russians in two separate actions. The first was at Yushuliku, and the second at Yensuling. The Russians suffered great loss.

LOOKS LIKE RUSSIAN DEFEAT.

Tokio, August 2.—Kuroki reports that the Japanese occupied Yushuliku and Yangtze Pass, 25 miles west of Liao Yang, Monday after two days' fighting. They drove two divisions of Russians out of Yushuliku and pursued them four miles. The Russians fled towards Aming. At Yangtze Pass two and a half divisions and four batteries of Russians were dislodged Monday morning. The Russians fled toward Tang Huyen. Japanese captured some field guns. The casualties are not yet ascertained. The temperature during the battle was over 100 degrees.

NEARING LIAO YANG.

St. Petersburg, August 2.—A dispatch from General Kuropatkin states that the Japanese have occupied Liao Yang and Yangtze Pass, thirty miles from Liao Yang.

GOING TO VLADIVOSTOK.

Rome, August 2.—The Gazette published a Mukden dispatch saying that all headquarters of the Russian military authorities are being transferred to Vladivostok which will become the capital of eastern Asia.

RAISING MORE ARMIES.

Harbin, August 2.—A new army of 50,000 men is being raised to reinforce General Kuropatkin. Two Japanese divisions are reported within ten kilometers of Mukden.

THE BATTLE RAGED.

New York, August 2.—Following their enveloping movements, the Japanese generals, Kuroki, Nodai and Oku, are opening a tremendous attack on the Russian main army along the valleys near Hai Cheng and Liao Yang. Dispatches from the front report heavy fighting in which the Russians have more than held their own, although the battle still rages and the final outcome cannot be foretold.

General Count Keller was killed in the attack on his force near Lia Yang just as the Siberian infantry commanded by him and repulsed a savage assault. Mortally wounded by a Japanese shell, General Keller lived long enough to realize that his defense had been successful and that the enemy had fallen back.

ARTILLERY DUEL ALL DAY.

Hai Cheng, August 2.—An artillery duel raged all day yesterday along the whole front, but the Russians still hold their positions.

RUMORED DISASTER

TO RUSSIANS.

London, August 2.—A dispatch to a news agency from Tokio says there is reason to believe that after two days' fighting the Japanese occupied Simoucheng, thus cutting off General Stakelberg from General Kuropatkin.

RAIDING SQUADRON BACK.

Vladivostok, August 2.—The raiding squadron safely returned Monday and reported that it sank the Knight Commander and two other steamers carrying contraband, because they were nearly out of coal and could not be sent to Vladivostok. During the raid no Japanese warships were sighted. The squadron will be ready for another cruise as soon as it is coaled.

INVESTIGATE SINKING.

London, August 2.—Balfour has informed the house of commons that the English minister at Tokio has been ordered to investigate the sinking of the Knight Commander.

HID THE PRISONER IN THE STEEPLE

Novel Ruse Adopted to Elude Mob.

The Chicago Packing Plants Are Running Smoothly—Gen.
Miles' Wife Dead.

GIRL SUDDENLY GOES INSANE

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 2.—A threatened riot last night was prevented by troops and the police keeping the crowd moving. The prisoner George Williams was last night smuggled from jail to the court house. He is now under guard in the court house steeple. All the saloons are closed until the trial, which began today, ends. Only the officials and witnesses are admitted to the court house.

PACKERS JUBILANT.

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Four trains of non-union men from the east arrived at the stock yards today. There was no disorder and the packers' plants are now in operation with 50 to 75 per cent of their full capacity. Many negroes who were undesirable were discharged.

SUDDENLY GOES INSANE.

Bethel, Ky., Aug. 2.—Miss Pearl Rolles, a prominent young lady, suddenly became insane yesterday and at the asylum today is very violent.

GEN. MILES' WIFE DEAD.

New York, Aug. 2.—The wife of Gen. Nelson A. Miles died at West Point last night. She had long suffered from heart disease.

OPERATORS QUIT

BIG STRIKE INAUGURATED ON THE KATY.

South McAlester, I. T., August 2.—The railroad operators on the entire Katy system quit work at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon, alleging that their request for an increase in wages had been refused.

Dallas, August 2.—The Missouri, Kansas Order of Railroad Telegraphers' operators in Dallas walked out, obeying the orders for a strike of all the telegraphers employed on the Missouri, Kansas and Texas system. The number of men engaged in the strike could not be ascertained, but locally less than half a dozen are affected.

At the office of Superintendent McDowell of the Katy it was stated that the trains were running all right and that no interruption in the service was anticipated. It is stated that the places vacated by the strikers are being filled rapidly.

The order for the strike seems to have been unexpected by the local O. R. T. men, but it is stated that it is the culmination of a disagreement which was begun about six months ago. The wage schedule is said to be one subject of disagreement and pay for overtime and shorter hours are other matters which require adjustment. The promotion according to seniority of telegraphers to be station agents is also demanded by the strikers.

A SURE GO

WOODMEN OF WORLD SIGNED A CONTRACT THIS AFTERNOON.

The Woodmen of the World carnival this fall is a sure go. A committee this afternoon signed a contract with the Brown Amusement and Carnival company, and the fair will be given from September 5-10. The location of the grounds has not been fully decided on, but it will probably be near Eighth and Tennessee streets. The committee has gone out this afternoon to measure the ground, and if it is large enough, it will be selected.

Any young man who can save up money during his engagement can afford to marry.

THE MAYOR CALLS A MEETING TODAY

Finance Committee to Discuss That Loan.

Mayor Says Money Can Be Loaned—Charter Says it Must Be Turned Over to Treasurer

COMMITTEE MUST REPORT BACK

Mayor D. A. Yeiser has called a meeting of the finance committee of the general council for 4 o'clock this afternoon to take up the question of loaning out that part of the money not spent this year for streets, a new market house and city hospital.

Mayor Yeiser says he thinks the city can loan out the money.

"I think there is no question as to the legality of the city loaning out that part of the money she knows she will not use this year, and we will meet this afternoon to settle the matter," Mayor Yeiser stated this morning.

"My idea is to go to work on the market house and city hospital at once and this, of course will take $50,000 of the money, leaving $150,000 that we can get a nice interest on. My plan is to take interest on the money by daily balance, the same as merchants do."

Last night Mayor Yeiser wanted the council to relieve him from signing the new bonds for the present, but it was voted down. The contract calls for them to be signed and delivered by a certain time, and the mayor's object in wanting it deferred was not clear.

He afterwards obtained a reconsideration, saying that he could not understand what will be done at the meeting of the money was then referred to the mayor and finance committee, to report back to the council. This really means nothing and gives them no right to loan it, and it cannot be given out until the council has approved it.

City Treasurer J. J. Dorian was asked today what he intended to do in case the mayor and finance committee undertook to loan the money, but he declined to make any statement. He said that he had nothing to say until he ascertained what the mayor and finance committee intend to do.

The charter says that all funds belonging to the city shall be turned over to the city treasurer and deposited in the city depository, and it has not yet been made clear by the administration how it is going to get around the provision.

NEGRO DESPERADO WENT TO PRISON

Ben Downer Said He "Lost His Head."

Mad Because He Could Not Ride the Pilot of an Engine So He Shot

HE WAIVED EXAMINATION

Ben Downer, the negro who shot into the cab of Engineer W. O. Burch last week at La Center on the C. & O. extension of the I. C., waived examination before Justice J. W. Powell at Wickliffe yesterday afternoon and was held over to the grand jury under a $500 bond, which he failed to give.

Downer admitted having fired the shot and in explaining stated he wanted to ride to Barlow and had gotten on the pilot of the engine when ordered off by the engineer. He got mad because of the refusal of a "lift" and stated he had been drinking and simply "lost his head and shot."

Special Agent W. T. Dineen, of the Louisville division, Special Officer Tolbert, who worked up the case and arrested the negro; Engineer Burch, his fireman and the express messenger on the train, were all in attendance at the trial but did not testify, the defendant waiving examination.

"I know I done wrong," Downer pleaded, "and am sorry for it. I've gwine to beg de mercy of de co't and get outen it as easy as I ken."

The witnesses returned to Paducah last night satisfied that Downer will get no light sentence at the next sitting of the Wickliffe circuit court, which will be held in a few weeks, as drunk or sober, he came near killing Engineer Burch and his fireman.

Horace Morrow, colored, the companion of Downer, was reported to have been killed by the marshal at Barlow when the marshal and a posse went after the two negroes, but this report is erroneous.

Morrow and Downer went down the tracks towards Barlow after the shooting and Engineer Burch told the marshal about the affair and warned him of their coming. They were arrested, the story goes, and Morrow ran. As he ran the officers began shooting and struck him nine times, the negro going to the woods and dying. The report further had the negro's remains secretly buried the next day.

The marshal at Barlow in a telephone message denied the report, and

A NEW RAILROAD OUT OF MAYFIELD

Survey Now Being Made to Columbus, Ky.

Government Surveyors at Columbus
Working On the Levee Proposition.

OTHER LATE KENTUCKY NEWS

Columbus, Ky., Aug. 2.—The building of the levee in Mississippi county will cause the gauge of the water at Columbus to register a deeper channel, and government surveyors are here to determine that difference, in order that we may build our levee higher and protect the city from overflow. Rough estimates place the body of water two feet higher, which means the levee must be raised more than two feet, and broadened at the base. This will cost several thousand dollars.

Surveyors are also in the field selecting a route for a railway to run from Mayfield to Columbus to intersect with our two railroads and river route. The line will be built with private capital, as Mayfield has suffered for years on account of the oppressive freight charges it has been paying, being on one line only. B. A. Neal and Prosecutor Hester were here Tuesday in charge of the surveying party, and they speak very encouragingly of the outlook, and give it as their opinion that the survey plans will be accepted and the company organized at once for the building of the road.

BEERINE SET BACK.

Fulton, Ky., Aug. 2.—Twenty-three cases of beerine which was to have been sold in Fulton was shipped back to Paducah, the dealers no longer daring to sell it. A test will be made in a few days to ascertain what per cent of it is alcohol.

PRINCETON TALENT.

Princeton, Ky., July Aug. 2.—A benefit concert was given here for Miss Mabel Mott, of Princeton, who is a talented young musician anxious to complete her studies in the Cincinnati Conservatory.

The concert was given under the direction of Mrs. Campbell, who as Margaret Sayre made quite a hit in "The Tenderfoot" of last season. Mrs. Campbell's grace, talent and beauty won repeated encores from the large and appreciative audience gathered to welcome her to her old home. Mrs. Campbell has been spending her vacation in Princeton, but expects to return to New York city in about two weeks.

HOPTOWN GAS COMPANY.

Hopkinsville, Ky., Aug. 2.—Articles incorporating the Hopkinsville Gas & Electric Co., with $35,000 capital stock, $15,000 preferred, were issued today to W. T. Tandy, W. C. White and Jas. A. Young, Jr. This is a reorganization of the Hopkinsville Light & Power Co., which furnishes the city with electric light. The company has a new plant on the site of the one recently burned, and is now in operation.

URNS UP ALIVE

A NEW YORK LAWYER CLAIMS TO HAVE BEEN KIDNAPPED.

Los Angeles, August 2.—Judge D. D. McKean, the New York lawyer for whom the police of the entire country have been looking since July 15, has arrived here. He tells a weird tale of kidnapping, transportation to Mexico and that his captors robbed him of $800.

M. Witte has accepted the post of Russian minister of the interior, succeeding the assassinated Von Plehve.

Mrs. Ellen Delph, widow of J. M. Delph, former mayor of Louisville, is dead.

Morrow is still in Barlow but will not be prosecuted, as he did not participate in the shooting.

MASKED ROBBERS HOLD UP I. C. TRAIN

Bandits Made a Haul Near Chicago.

A Large Number of Passengers Relieved of Their Valuables By the Desperados.

NO ARRESTS YET MADE

Chicago, Aug. 2.—Robbers last night held up an Illinois Central passenger train between Flossmore and Madison about twenty-five miles from Chicago. Several of the passengers were robbed, and it is said that one person who resisted was seriously wounded by the robbers. The bandits, of whom there were five, had revolvers, and three of them were masked.

The train left Chicago at 9:27 o'clock and consisted of two baggage and mail cars, three day coaches and two Pullman sleeping cars. At Harvey, or somewhere between there and Madison, the bandits boarded the train. One of the men, believed to be the leader, stood guard between the last day coach and the forward Pullman. Masked men entered the forward Pullman, aroused the occupants and forced them to go to the rear sleeper, where the passengers also were aroused. Here they were searched for valuables, and it was here that one man, who resisted, was struck on the head with an ax and severely injured.

After obtaining the passengers' money and valuables the bandits locked their victims in the cars. One of the robbers then pulled the emergency bell rope and the train, which was a special excursion train, bound for St. Louis, was stopped. When the speed had been slackened sufficiently the robbers leaped off and went west in the darkness. The engineer was not aware that his train had been robbed until he went back to learn why he had been signalled to stop.

A DIVIDEND

IT ABOUT CLEANS UP THE HAR-RY STARK'S ASSETS.

Trustee in Bankruptcy Arthur Y. Martin today declared the first dividend in the Harry M. Stark case. It amounts to about $1,000 and will about clean up the available assets. He will send out checks at once. The Stark bankruptcy case has been hanging fire for the past several months and a compromise has been talked of but never effected.

Stark, it will be remembered, claimed that he had gambled away about $10,000 or more of the firm's funds, and the creditors wanted a showing. He disappeared and has not been back. An effort was made to compromise, but it was unsuccessful. It is said he offered about $2,500 to settle with creditors and be allowed to return. The dividend declared today surrenders all hope of a compromise.

TO NOTIFY DAVIS

COMMITTEE TO MEET AT WHITE
SULPHUR SPRINGS AUGUST 17.

New York, August 2.—Secretary Woodson of the Democratic national committee today sent telegrams to Chairman John Sharp Williams and other members of the committee to notify Henry G. Davis of his nomination as vice president, to meet at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., August 17. The arrangements for the notification are in charge of John T. McGraw, member of the national committee for the state.

NO DECISION YET.

Justice J. S. Young has decided that Charles Norwood, who sued Jim Viola for $100 damage for refusing to let him sell sandwiches at Wallace park after he had contracted with him to have this privilege, is entitled to some damage but has no yet determined how much. He will render his opinion in a day or two.

Beautiful Thoughts

The sweet, pure breath of the babe is suggestive of innocence and health. A mother's yearning for children is inseparable from a love of the beautiful, and it behooves every woman to bring the sweetest and best influence to bear on the subject of her maternity.

To relieve pain and make easy that period when life is born again, is popularly used. It is a liniment easily administered and for external use only. Pregnant women should try this remedy, it being undeniably a friend to her during nature's term of suspense and anticipation.

Mother's Friend

Mother's Friend, if used throughout gestation, will soften the breasts, thereby preventing cracked and sore nipples. All muscles straining with the burden will relax, become supple and elastic from its continued application.

All fibres in the abdominal region will respond readily to the expanding cover containing the embryo if Mother's Friend is applied externally during pregnancy. Of all reliable druggists $1.00 per bottle. Write for free book on "Motherhood."

THE BRADFIELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.

YEAR'S EARNINGS

Fine Showing Made by the N. C. & St. L.

The Increase Has Been Most Gratifying To Officials.

A comparative statement of operations for the fiscal year has just been issued by the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis Railway. It shows gross earnings as was expected of over $10,000,000, and an increase of $600,000 over the previous year.

Operating expenses in which are included vast improvements made, were much larger this year than last, and as a result the net earnings of the road were but about $14,000 larger than the previous twelve months. There was about the same difference in the surplus, $815,828, going to that fund this year.

This is really a remarkable showing. Last year the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis showed an increase over the previous year larger in proportion than any other road in the south. There were but few roads in the country that did as well. This year big systems all over the United States have shown decreases in their earnings gross, but the local road has still continued to show an increase.

The statement for the fiscal year follows:

	For 12 months end'g June 30, '04
Gross earnings	$10,206,022 33
Operating expenses	7,581,030 19
Net earnings	$ 2,624,992 14
Interest	$ 958,271 19
Taxes	225,014 43
Rentals	622,878 00
Totals	$ 1,809,163 62
Surplus	$15,828 52

	For 12 months end'g June 30, '03.
Gross earnings	$ 9,606,370 11
Operating expenses	6,995,603 25
Net earnings	$ 2,610,766 46
Interest	$ 972,827 53

STOP THAT COUGH!

When a cough, a tickling or an irritation in the throat makes you feel uncomfortable, take Ballard's Horehound Syrup. Don't wait until the disease has gone beyond control. Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Anderson, 534 West Fifth street, Salt Lake City, Utah, writes: "We think Ballard's Horehound Syrup the best medicine for coughs and colds. We have used it for several years; it always gives immediate relief, is very pleasant and gives perfect satisfaction." 25c, 50c, $1.00. DuBois, Kolb & Co.

Clarksville, Tenn., Aug. 2.—No game between Cairo and Clarksville yesterday on account of rain.

NOTES.
It looks bad for the Indians. In the lead a week ago, we now seem to be hopelessly behind. This is not pessimism. Cairo is probably now able to take the biggest part of the games with other clubs, and judging from Paducah's experience yesterday, the Indians are not certain of taking anything.

MANY REPLIES

DR. CALDWELL RECEIVES MORE COMMUNICATIONS ABOUT CHURCH PROPERTY.

Dr. S. B. Caldwell recognizes the merits of advertising.

He is trustee for the Second Presbyterian church property on South Fifth street and has been authorized to sell it, building and furniture together or separate. Dr. Caldwell has received many communications, one from the congregation of the new Methodist church in the Clark's river section, which says that the chairs and possibly one organ could be used, and today the congregation will give Dr. Caldwell an answer to the terms.

Dr. Caldwell attributes all this to the publicity given in the papers, but one communication which speaks more for the papers than any others comes from West Liberty, in the mountains of East Kentucky, where a new church has been built by the evangelical board of the Presbyterian church. The congregation wants to use one organ and about 300 chairs and will buy at a reasonable figure. Dr. Caldwell will write this afternoon and thinks this time will get a sale for the furniture.

STILL AGROUND

IT IS NOT THOUGHT THE JOHN S. HOPKINS WILL BE DAMAGED.

The John S. Hopkins is still aground at Elizabethtown, Ill., and is reported almost on dry land on account of the rapid fall of the river since she became stranded last Saturday. She is lying straight on a level bar, and it is not believed will be damaged by the experience.

The river continues to fall rapidly and in a few days the Dick Fowler will have to abandon the Cairo trade and the Joe Fowler, which is a lighter draught boat, will be substituted as the Cairo packet.

CAIRO'S VIEW

WHAT SECRETARY FARNBAKER THINKS OF THINGS IN GENERAL.

The following are from the Cairo Bulletin of yesterday:

"Harley put up a magnificent game at first for Paducah while Land played the receiver as he usually does, in good style.

"Out of the 18 games played to date between Cairo and Paducah, the Champions have won 10 while the Tom-Tom Beaters have won 8. That's close playing.

"Girard's dumb play in failing to cover third base when Brady fielded a bunt hit, and Piepho's error lost the game for Paducah or they might have been playing until dark unless Holy-cross clouted another home run over the beer sign.

"Cairo and Paducah will meet for the last time this season in August for six games, three at Cairo and three at Paducah. During the meantime we will bury the hatchet and try and whip the others.

"Shuster instead of going to the New York state league, stopped over in Chicago, presented a recommendation to Johnstone of the National league, who in turn secured him an appointment from President Grillo of the American association at $300 per month and all expenses. He officiated yesterday for the first time at Milwaukee.

"Cairo beat Paducah six out of seven, but it was no cinch. The closeness of the scores in four games and the extra innings required to obtain decisive results plainly demonstrate the correctness of the above statement."

COLORED MASONS

ABOUT 65 DELEGATES HERE FROM KENTUCKY TODAY.

The grand lodge of colored Masons of Kentucky convened this morning in its hall at Third and Broadway with about 65 visiting delegates in attendance, including some of the most prominent colored men in the state. It is the 37th grand lodge, and the first time it has met in Paducah for many years.

The session began at 10 a. m. and little has been done today outside of hearing reports and transacting preliminary and routine business.

The Grand Lodge was opened by Grand Master Marshall T. Clay, of Lexington. The preliminary exercises were conducted by W. H. Bullitt, Grand Lecturer, in which the work was beautifully exemplified.

The committee on credentials, consisting of W. E. Johnson, Henry Clay and W. B. Hamilton, reported the presence of delegates from fifty subordinate lodges among whom are some of the most prominent colored men of the state.

Among the pleasant features of the morning session was the introduction of Past Grand Masters Chas. Steele and W. H. Steward and Past Deputy Grand Masters George Sutton, A. F. Rochester and W. H. Mayo, who were received with grand honors.

The morning was spent in hearing short addresses.

At the afternoon session the annual address of Grand Master Marshall T. Clay was read. It was full of valuable information concerning the craft and showed an encouraging growth in the fraternity. The reports of Deputy Grand Master A. Q. Green and District Deputies J. E. Todd, W. B. Baker and A. F. Rochester showed their official visits and the satisfactory condition of the craft.

COW NUISANCE

THOSE WITH BELLS ARE COMPLAINED OF EVERYWHERE.

The cow nuisance is beginning to be felt again in Paducah. There are complaints at police station and elsewhere every day, and a number of pretty yards have been devastated during the past few days.

The cow that is eliciting the greatest protest, however, is the cow with the bell. It is said that this class is increasing rapidly, and it is acknowledged to be one of the worst nuisances imaginable. The city authorities will confer a favor on the public by enforcing the cow law.

HAPPY MOTHER'S TOUCHING STORY

Of Baby's Dreadful Suffering from Eczema.

CURED BY CUTICURA.

Now His Skin Is as White as a Snow Flake.

"A terrible rash broke out on Charles's poor little face and spread to his neck, chest and back. I had never seen anything quite like it before," writes Mrs. Helena Math of 821 10th Ave., N. Y. City. "The skin rose in little lumps, and matter came out. My baby's skin was hot, and how he did suffer. He wouldn't eat, and night after night I walked the floor with him, weak as I was. Often I had to stop because I felt faint and my back throbbed with pain. But the worst pain of all was to see my poor little boy burning with those nasty sores. At last I was persuaded by a friend across the street to try the Cuticura Remedies. She gave me some Cuticura Ointment—I think the box was about half full—and a piece of Cuticura Soap. I followed the directions, bathing Charles and putting that nice Ointment on the sores. Little by little, but so surely, Charles and I both got more peace by day and more sleep by night. The sores sort of dried up and went away, and now Charles is cured completely.

"Yes, that fat little boy by the window is Charles, and his skin is as white as a snow flake, thanks to the Cuticura Remedies. I think everybody should know about the Soap and Ointment, and if it is going to help other mothers with sick babies, go ahead and publish what I have told you."

STRONG ORDER

FEW PEOPLE REALIZE THE POWER OF RAILWAY TELE-GRAPHERS.

While the fact is not generally known, the Order of Railway Telegraphers is a very strong organization and has contracts with the I. C. and other roads the same as the machinists and others.

The order goes about its business very quietly and without any pomp, ceremony, boasts or threats, but nevertheless, generally gets what it wants.

The order each year presents its contract and generally gets it signed. A regular scale for different stations is arranged and the company usually signs it, because it is usually fair and reasonable. The business and safety of the road depend largely on the dispatchers and operators and when they stop, business on the road has to stop.

HERBINE

Renders the bile more fluid and thus helps the blood to flow; it affords prompt relief from biliousness, indigestion, sick and nervous headaches, and the over-indulgence in food and drink. Herbine acts quickly, a dose after meals will bring the patient in to a good condition in a few days.

G. L. Caldwell, Agt., M. K. and T. R. R., Chocoma, Ind., Ter, writes, April 1, 1903: "I was sick for over two years with enlargement of the liver and spleen. The doctors did me no good, and I had given up all hope of being cured, when my druggist advised me to use Herbine. It has made me sound and well." 50c. DuBois, Kolb & Co.

DEATH IN THE COUNTY.

Mrs. John Campbell, aged 33 years, died at her home near Woodville from bowel complaint, after a long illness. The deceased was a sister of Mrs. J. R. McClain of Paducah, and leaves besides a husband five children. The remains were buried at the family burying ground.

CURES SCIATICA.

Rev. W. L. Riley, La. L. D., Cuba, New York, writes: "After fifteen days of excruciating pain from sciatica rheumatism, under various treatments, I was induced to try Ballard's Snow Liniment; the first application giving my first relief and the second entire relief. I can give it unqualified recommendation." 25c, 50c, $1.00 DuBois, Kolb & Co.

MARKET HOUSE SITE SELECTED AT LAST

Council Consents in the Old Fort Project.

Several Ordinances Passed by Board—Councilmen Refuse to Widen Broadway.

OTHER BUSINESS TRANSACTIONS

The regular meeting of the council was held last night, and the members voted to purchase the old fort site for a city hospital, which definitely settles the location of the hospital, plans for which have already been approved. The board refused to concur in the aldermanic action placing the issuance of saloon licenses in the hands of one of the local boards, the position being taken that there would be too good an opportunity for "graft." The board refused to take part of the sidewalk off Broadway to increase the width of the street, and give more room for double tracks. The board of public works reported that there remains but about $10,800 in the street appropriation, with $5,000 of this to be paid for July work and bills.

All members of the council were present.

Mayor Yeiser was instructed not to sign the contract with the Dubuque hose company until the 2,000 feet of hose arrive. White & Co., New York bankers, reported that the $100 check for lithographing the $20,000 railroad shop bonds had been lost. The city will issue a duplicate if the other is not found.

It was decided that the mayor and finance committee look after the signing of the city bonds, which arrived yesterday by express. The committee is also to look after the securing of the money.

The report of Treasurer J. J. Dorian showed a balance on hand July 1 of $9,805.70; collected during July $51,211.91; spent $46,593.06; leaving present balance of $14,551.55.

City Auditor Kirkland made his first report showing balance left in various appropriations.

The regular payroll and bills were allowed. Mr. Robert Barnhart, who was hurt while discharging his duties, was allowed full pay for June and July.

First reading was given an ordinance requiring property owners to construct concrete sidewalks along Clark street between Ninth and Tenth.

Second reading was given the following ordinances: Ordinance requiring property owners to make all water, gas and other connections along streets to be reconstructed; three ordinances, one for paving Broadway from Fifth to Ninth one for the storm water sewerage along the same street and the other for the sidewalks along the same thoroughfare.

Ordinance prohibiting the draining of anything except storm or surface water into the storm water sewerage. The matter of taking two feet off the pavements on Broadway from Fifth to Ninth and adding it to the street, for the purpose of giving more room for double tracks, was submitted by the board of public works, which recommended it, but the council voted it down. Hannan, Riglesberger and Smedley were the only members who voted to widen the street.

A number of the regular department reports were received and filed. G. W. Schulte withdrew his application for a saloon license at 16th and Tennessee, on account of the objection raised.

200,000 PEOPLE WILL BE AFFECTED

By Withdrawal of the Illinois Life.

There Seems to be no Way to Force the Company to Show Its Books.

COMMISSIONER INVESTIGATING

The announcement of the withdrawal of the Illinois Life Insurance company from Kentucky created a sensation among its policy holders in this state and many express regret that the state insurance commissioner, Henry R. Prewitt, had been refused permission to have the books examined. It is not believed that under the provisions of the Kentucky law Mr. Prewitt can press his demand for a look at the books and nothing can be done for the interests of the Kentucky policy holders by the Kentucky officials, says the Courier Journal.

Henry F. Duncan, of Louisville, who is familiar with the law on insurance matters, said yesterday that the Kentucky statutes provided that the insurance commission might demand an examination of any company's books which did business in Kentucky when he thought the interests of the policy holders demanded it, but that in case it was refused he could only revoke the company's rights to do business in Kentucky. As the Illinois Life has voluntarily withdrawn from the field, the insurance commissioner's hands are tied. In some states, it is said that the insurance commissioner has pressed his right and has succeeded in securing an order of court for an examination of the company's books, but under the Kentucky law it is not believed that such a suit could be successfully prosecuted.

Probably 200,000 persons in Kentucky are either directly or indirectly interested in the Illinois Life insurance company, either as policy holders in it or in the old Mutual Life Insurance Company of Kentucky, or as beneficiaries of existing policies. The policy holders are much disappointed in the company's refusal to throw open its books for examination and to let the action as significant. If the company is in a healthy condition, they see no reason why it should have declined to accede to the request of the attorney to see the books. Many of the old Mutual Life's policy holders refused to exchange their policies for policies in the Illinois Life, and until a possible demand claim against the old company is wiped out the 20,000 on deposit at Frankfort cannot be withdrawn by the Illinois Life.

Henry R. Prewitt declines to discuss the case. He says the subject is under investigation and that he is not fully satisfied as to the extent of his authority. In Paducah there are not many policy holders now, it is understood.

TRANSFERS BEING MADE.

The Paducah City Railway company is now transferring passengers on all lines. The third street car goes to Fourth and Broadway, which is made the transfer center. An agent of the company is placed on this corner to transfer passengers from the depot line to the other lines. The system was inaugurated Saturday and is running smoothly.

CONDUCTOR WEDS

MR. A. M. DOWELL, WELL KNOWN HERE MARRIES IN ILLINOIS.

A dispatch from Carverville, Ill., says:

"A. M. Dowell, of St. Louis, Mo., and Miss Kate Winning of this city were married here today. Mr. Dowell is well known here, it being his former home. He has been a conductor for the Illinois Central railroad for many years. Miss Winning has taught in the public schools of this city for fifteen years."

Conductor Dowell is well known in Paducah. He ran into the city for several years on the St. Louis division of the road, and is now an occasional visitor here.

A CONTINUAL STRAIN.

Many men and women are constantly subjected to what they commonly term "a continual strain" because of some financial or family trouble. It wears and distresses them both mentally and physically, affecting their nerves badly and bringing on liver and kidney ailments, with the attendant evils of constipation, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, low vitality and despondency. They cannot as a rule, get rid of this "continual strain," but they can remedy its health destroying effects by taking frequent doses of Green's August Flower. It tones up the liver, stimulates the kidneys, insures healthy bodily functions, gives vim and spirit to one's whole being, and eventually dispels the physical or mental distress caused by that "continual strain." Trial bottle of August Flower, 25c; regular size, 75c. At DuBois, Kolb & Co.

MR. KINKEAD ON POWERS.

No one can read the able reply of Attorney Robert O. Kinkad, one of Caleb Powers' attorneys, to "Judge" Lewis McQuown's studied political essay rejected by McClure's, without being struck by its truthfulness and fairness. The Courier-Journal, in a semblance of fairness, publishes it because doubtless, after denouncing the New York publication for refusing to publish McQuown's views on the ground that a magazine should publish both sides, it didn't dare refuse to go back on its own theory. It takes particular pains, however, to editorially note in the same issue that Mr. Kinkad's article is "the merest piece of special pleading, de-riving its force from many distortions of fact and half-statements of testimony as well as from certain assumptions which could not be maintained if subjected to a close analysis."It also informs its readers in the headlines over the reply, so they will not begin reading it under the erroneous impression that it is to be credited, that "one of the attorneys of the condemned man undertakes to reply to Mr. Lewis McQuown," and supplements it with the headline,
"Clever but Imperfect Pleading."The Courier-Journal's real antipathy to publishing the article, and its obvious conviction that it is a forceful presentation of facts, are too evident to require further elucidation.
The article speaks for itself, and calmly and concisely reviews some of the Democratic outrages incident to those political persecutions—it would require several issues of the paper to recount them all. The people of Kentucky—or rather those who read the Democratic papers,—have been induced to believe in the guilt of the alleged Goebel conspirators by the evidence and alleged facts dished up to them in garbled installments by the Democratic papers. It is only human nature for them to so believe. They believe, not because they are unfair, bloodthirsty, or too partisan or too prejudiced to do justice to all men, but because they have been misled.
If they knew the facts they would soon realize what a monstrous crime has been committed against justice and the men tried and convicted of the Goebel murder. Mr. Kinkad'sarticle deals with the court records.
He is an attorney of high standing, is not a politician or chairman of any political committee, and would have nothing to gain and everything to lose by misrepresentation.He is familiar with every feature of the trials and with the records, and would hardly venture to mistake anything when it could so clearly be disproven. It is regretted that what he has to say cannot be read in every home in the state. Doubtless many Democrats would not read it, as they don't want to see or hear anything in defense of the men against whom their minds have been persistently poisoned for the past four years, but a large majority of Democrats are fairer than that, and would find quite a revelation in "the other side." Attorney Kinkad ends his article with these words:"I wish now to repeat what I have always honestly believed and contended for, and that is—that when the truthful history of this terrible crime is finally written—and it will be some day—it will be established that the only conspiracy proven by the records of these trials is the one formed to unlawfully take human lives for political purposes—a conspiracy more horrible to contemplate than that charged in the indictment against Powers.
"Let me in closing say that Powers may be hung on this charge, but if he is, the darkest chapter in Kentucky's history will have been closed, and those who cause his death may, when their extended bloodstained hands are pleading for justice, shrink back from the contemplation of those stains and cry in vain as did Lady Macbeth—
"Out, damned spot, out!"

WORST THING IN THE WORLD.

The Henderson Gleaner in a fanciful vein, thus exposes one of the weaknesses of human nature, and claims for Henderson what some of the people of each and every city always declare is true only of their own home town:"The flood of iniquity in the city is at full tide, as seems natural during such a season. The temptation to sin and to become indifferent to the higher things of life is flaunted into one's face on every side. That many a young person—and some who are older—will go back to their homes with their finer sensibilities blunted, there can be little doubt. The exposition is a great educator, but it necessarily brings with it much that is debasing in character.""The above quotation is from a circular letter sent us by The Presbyterian General Assembly's Committee on Evangelical Work. It will be perceived that it refers to the moral situation at St. Louis. In this connection we are reminded of the blameless maiden lady who on her first and only trip to Europe, refused to disembark at Naples, but stayed on board for two days the ship was in port. She heard that Naples was a "very wicked city."—New York Independent.It seems that each and all the cities are in the same predicament. Evansville is "perfectly awful." The man in the moon holds his nose every time he passes over Owensboro. Sodom and Gomorrah were just nowhere as compared with Louisville. Seebree is a very tough little burg. Paducah wallows helplessly in the slough of sensuality. But you reach the jumping off place when you get to Henderson. So at any rate, we are told by some who have been here a year or so and have investigated. That here iniquity struts and swaggers abroad with the most unblushing effrontery, by day and by night. That it is the most wide open town on the American continent. That law and order are unknown. That the way of the transgressor is as smooth and as easy as the wit of man can make it. Here the caldrion boils the hell broth, adder's venom, lizard's leg, baboon's blood, eye of newt, and gall of goat, and—so forth!"Double, double, toil and trouble; Fire burn and caldrion bubble!"John Rhea, one of our free silver fire-eaters, has withdrawn from the race for congress in the Third district, because, it is alleged, he can't stand the Democratic flop to sound money. This is probably a mistake.
Mr. Rhea is one of those Democrats who can stand anything for the sake of a job or the prospect of one.The Democratic platform denounces protection as "a robbery of the many to enrich the few" and then the Democrats place on it Judge Parker, who was backed by Hill, Belmont and others identified with Wall street, and Senator Davis, one of the richest coal and iron magnates in the country.The New York Herald, which fortunately is against President Roose-velt, is frank enough to admit that after a careful canvass of the New York stock exchange for preferences for president, it finds that 362 members are for Roosevelt, 129 for Parker, and five undecided. So much for the claims that the business interests are for Parker.

The case against C. W. Johnson, formerly manager of the Hessig distillery, for carrying a pistol, was tried and the defendant fined $30 and costs and sentenced to 20 days in jail.
He was granted an appeal to the higher court. The warrant was sworn by Dr. H. T. Hessig, with whom Johnson has had trouble of late."Baby" Child, colored, who sang vulgar songs on the streets, was fined $30 and costs for her free entertainment to the public, the court not approving of this class of theatricals.Lewis Goodrich, colored, was fined $10 and costs by agreement for keeping a disorderly house.The breach of the peace case against W. Parham was continued.Warner Hill, colored, was fined $1 and costs for being drunk.Frank Lawrence was fined $5 and costs for blocking the pavement with second hand goods but the fine is suspended if the offense is not repeated.The case against Will Corwin, colored, who yesterday shot Platt Speed, colored, will be tried Thursday.

LEAVES PADUCAH

MR. W. A. DAVIS TO LOCATE IN CHICAGO IN A FEW DAYS.The many friends in Paducah of Mr. W. A. Davis and family, will regret that they will in a few days move to Chicago, Ill., to live. Because he can do a much larger volume of business in Chicago, Mr. Davis decided on this step. He has had an office at Third and Broadway in Paducah for some years and is well and favorably known among the lumber interests of the south and southwest, and while his many friends sincerely regret to learn of his departure they are at the same time glad to know that it means increasing business and better facilities.The going, however, does not mean that Mr. Davis will not be represented in his old territory. He will maintain a corps of competent inspectors to look after the details of his business, a new addition to the force being Mr. J. H. Garrison, of this city, who has for several years been chief inspector for the Paducah Furniture Manufacturing company and has a wide acquaintance among saw mill men and others, all of whom know him to be thoroughly in touch with his line and a gentleman with whom it is a pleasure to do business.At other points in the south Mr.
Davis will be represented by Mr. R.
J. Ryan, Mr. J. J. Farmer and Mr.
Ira Fenimore, a trio of lumbermen who stand high.Mr. Davis will be accompanied by his office man, Mr. Lee S. Arthur, who will have charge of the books, etc., in the new location, which will be at No. 1613 the Marquette building, Chicago.

intendent of southern lines who is the principal member of the board, asking for a conference to be held here as soon as possible, but Mr. Mc-Court is given thirty days in which to representatives in the board, are a little extravagant in their demands, according to some of the officials of the road. It is stated that their report saying Engineer McGuire and Conductor Wheden had been removed is erroneous, as neither member has been removed and will not be.Engineer McGuire represents the shop men, engineers and the entire mechanical force of the territory, while Conductor Wheden represents the traffic department, the road men, they say. In addition to the engineer representative the mechanical forces have Master Mechanic Turnbull, it is stated.

session and prominent colored men of all over the state are in attendance.
Thursday, August 4, at 11 a. m. the Grand Lodge will suspend business to participate in laying the cornerstone of their temple, which will reflect much credit to this order.The public, both white and colored, are invited to attend. Several addresses will be made by good speakers.

NOT TRIED

AGENT LUCAS GETS ANOTHER CHANCE IN SEPTEMBER.Attorney Frank Lucas has returned from Henderson where he went to attempt to dissolve the injunction brought to restrain him from acting as auditor's agent in Henderson county.
He says there was no trial of the injunction as Judge Henson decided that the code did not authorize a trial except during the regular term.
Therefore he continued the hearing until September.

PECULIAR CASE

BULLET IN MR. SAM LEIBEL'S
LEG WAS FLAT.Dr. B. B. Griffith, who yesterday performed an operation on Mr. Sam Leibel and extracted a bullet from his leg, kept the bullet as a curiosity.Dr. Griffith has taken many bullets from wounds, but states this is the first he ever saw flattened out so perfectly. The ball struck a bone and flattened out to the thickness of a ten-cent piece. A portion of the cloth from Mr. Leibel's trousers was carried with the bullet and was sticking on the lead.

recover from the injuries sustained in alighting.The boy struck on his head and shoulder and at first it was thought the back was broken. The youth was picked up unconscious and bleeding from an ugly wound in the back of the head, and from his ears. He was treated by Dr. Earle, of the I. C. railroad corps of physicians and this morning was still unconscious.The physicians removed the boy to his home and stated his case is very serious although they entertain hopes for recovery.

ROBINSON'S CHANCE

By A. M. DAVIES
OGDEN

Copyright, 1904, by T. C. McClure

"All aboard!" shouted the conductor warningly. The bishop, with a final hand pressure, turned to the car steps. "Now, don't forget," he said earnestly. "I am not desirous of seeming to preach," his kindly smile flashing out for a second, "but if the opportunity comes give a fellow creature a chance. The way to make people trustworthy is to trust them," he added impressively. The listener nodded. Clad as he was in rough corduroy trousers thrust into long boots, blue flannel shirt and handkerchief knotted loosely about the powerful throat he looked a man to influence others, and the bishop, no mean reader of men, was satisfied.

"I wish that I could have remained a bit longer," he thought regretfully as he settled himself comfortably in the wide seat. "Four days is really too short for a parochial visit."

The man left behind heartily echoed the bishop's sentiments. It had been like a breath out of another world, this few days' intercourse with a lofty and cultivated personality. Under his own calm blue eyes lay an ardent and enthusiastic nature, which had as yet found but little to develop it. The bishop's inspiring talk had awakened an instant response that now made itself felt as an unsatisfied want. His eyes followed the train like those of a hungry dog, then drifted back to the primitive station, the long, straight line of tracks and the siding where a row of freight cars stood waiting for the morning, with a vague distaste for it all.

"Makes a fellow sorter want something better," he reflected, turning slowly away. "Give some fellow creature a chance, hey? Well, there's plenty out here needs it. Dare say I do myself."

With a grim chuckle he strode on down the narrow cabin lined street, where the afternoon sun was now flinging long shadows across its ugliness. Men in groups hung about the doors of rival saloons. Several hailed him, but Robinson only shook his head absently. Then, as his eyes fell on a man slouching lazily along, his face brightened.

"That pesky tramp has been hanging about for a week asking for work," he thought. "Suppose I try him. Here, you," he called aloud. The man, startled, came forward suspiciously, his eye on Robinson's hip pocket. The latter frowned.

"Here, wake up," he growled. "You say you want work. Go up to my cabin then, fix it up and then—then wait till I come," his invention giving out. The man only stared, and Robinson's wrath overflowed.

"Don't stand gaping there like a blasted idiot," he roared. "Get along with you and double quick too. See you have things well cleaned up by the time I get there, or I'll make it hot for you. Here's the key."

Robinson's methods were convincing, and the man after one glance to assure himself of the speaker's sincerity turned and departed in haste. With a relieved sigh Robinson crossed to the nearest saloon.

"It's on me, boys," he remarked cheerfully. "What'll you have?"

When finally Robinson mounted the hill to his cabin night had fallen, and the memory of the tramp had entirely escaped him. To his astonishment the cabin door stood open, a thing unprecedented, and on the hearth lay the last embers of a fire. Recollection came swiftly, and with hurried fingers he lighted a candle to gaze about the tidied room. Everything seemed in order. But the man was gone, and, with an exclamation, Robinson darted to the cupboard, where were kept his dearest possessions. Those new boots! One glance sufficed—the boots were gone. In their place stood a pair of rusty high tops, and at that sight Robinson's rage found words. In fluent and picturesque English he cursed emphatically and categorically himself, his belongings, the tramp and all belonging to him. He even began on the bishop, but checked that. The bishop's theory might be good.

"But out here it's durned poor practice," thought Robinson ruefully. "Where can the skunk have gone? He must have 'em on."

There was practically only one way out of the town—the railroad—and a sudden remembrance of the waiting freight cars flashed across Robinson's mind. To seize the lantern, light it and lock the door behind him was but the work of a minute. In the next he had started down the hill on a dog trot, the expression of his mouth boding ill for the tramp were he careless enough to be caught.

Into the dark, dirty car, where lay a few tattered relics, turned out now and then by irate conductor or busy freight hand, but always slipping back, came Robinson with determined men, lantern in one hand, pistol in the other.

"Hold up your feet," he said sharply. The men roused, dazed and protesting from heavy slumbers, stared bewilderedly as they thrust out feet drawn from beneath straw or sacking. What new game was this? Robinson, heedless of question or criticism, after a quick flash of the lantern, hurried to the next car, leaving a wake of disgusted chaff.

Through four cars plodded Robinson, and then, in the fifth, he received a shock. From the darkness came a voice unmistakably declining to show the required foot. Robinson's voice softened ominously.

"I think you had better," he began gently; "otherwise I shall have to make you."

"Oh, please," the voice was almost a wail, "let me alone. I haven't done you any harm. Go away."

"Go away," repeated Robinson, fairly stunned. "Go away. And my boots!"

"Your boots! I don't know anything about your boots; indeed I don't. Pardon?"

"Feet up now," interrupted Robinson curtly. "Here, let me see you," slipping the lantern closer. A tall, slender boy in ragged clothing was revealed, gazing up with white face and imploring eyes. No one else was in the car, and for a second Robinson hesitated.

"But you may be a pal," he decided. "Put 'em up at once. Lord, what a fuss about nothing!" as a pair of small, travel stained boots made reluctant appearance. "You needn't worry about those. They look more like a woman's feet," with a short laugh. The sound of a smothered sob reached his ear, and Robinson, starting, bent lower. "A woman! Doggone if it ain't a woman!" he uttered slowly. "Say, what are you doing here?" with a complete change of tone. The sobs deepened.

"I'm trying to get east," she wept. "My people are there, and I—"

"But how came you here this way?"

The girl after a quick glance at the handsome, interested face felt her courage returning.

"I went out with my father," she began timidly. "Then he married again, and his wife—she wasn't good to me. But dad always looked after me until he got killed in a fight. She got worse after that—she wanted me—I couldn't stand it," with a wavering look. "So I took some of father's clothes and got away. I hadn't much money, so I had to steal rides, and nobody suspected until you tonight. You see, I couldn't wear father's boots." The big eyes filled again with tears, and Robinson felt like a condemned criminal.

"Oh, say, don't cry," he muttered clumsily. In spite of its sheath of dirt and grime he could detect the fair prettiness of the girl's face, and a growing admiration for her pluck made him grind his teeth at the idea of what she might have to meet. It was ridiculous for a girl to think of such a thing. Yet he couldn't ask her to go back. Nor could he keep her unless— With a sudden brightening of his countenance, he set down the lantern and took both her hands in his.

"Look here," said he diffidently, "I'm a poor lot perhaps. I haven't got much saved, and mine ain't much of a home. But such as it is it's yours if you will only take it."

The girl, her eyes widening in bewilderment, drew back.

"You mean?" she asked faintly.

"I mean—I mean that I want you for my wife, little woman. Of course I ain't no good enough," huskily. "But I'll treat you well, and—I've been lonely, for a fact, though I didn't know it, so if you could only see your way clear to favoring me—to giving me my chance"—His tone sank to entreaty, and the girl, who had listened incredulously, uttered a little cry and dropped her forehead to the hands that still held hers, firm, steady hands that any woman could trust. Robinson's clasp tightened.

"You mean that you will?" he said excitedly as a shamed little nod answered him. "God bless you, little woman. Say," struck by a jubilant thought, "I just bet you the bishop will come back and marry us."

And the bishop did.

Not Worth the Money.

A tall woman with a determined expression and surrounded by six children of assorted sizes approached the attendant of the menagerie and eyed him with a relentless gaze.

"What nationality is that elephant?" she inquired, indicating one close at hand.

"Comes from Africa, ma'am," said the attendant.

"He's dreadful light colored to have come from tropical parts," said the woman sternly. "And look here," she added as the attendant started away from her family group; "they've got a mighty poor lot of camels here, according to my lights. Not but one hump on any of 'em except that fellow that's so old he keeps his eyes shut."

The attendant again essayed to depart, but she clutched him by the sleeve.

"You tell the owners of this show what I say," she commanded. "You tell 'em that when a woman pays 50 cents for herself and one-fifty for a mess of children she looks to see more'n one double humper and more hair on the single humpers, not have 'em look as if the moths had got into 'em. Now, mind you tell 'em."

Improving a Cigar by Putting It Out. Lighting a new Havana, a downtown professional man, after taking a few whiffs, blew into his cigar and forced a lot of smoke out of the fiery end. Then he laid it aside and permitted the spark to die out.

When asked for an explanation he said: "Well, I learned that habit some years ago, and I find that a cigar which has been lighted and then allowed to go out makes a much better smoke. I take several vigorous draws in order to bring the heat well through the wood. If a cigar becomes cold while it is saturated with smoke it has a musty odor; consequently it is necessary to blow steadily and quite hard before extinguishing the spark in order to clear out all the smoke that has been drawn in between the layers of tobacco. After permitting the cigar to lie ten or fifteen minutes or even a half hour I find on relighting it that the flavor has greatly improved. The why and wherefore I am not philosophical enough to explain, but I know it makes a cigar better. It also improves a toby. Try it and you'll agree with me."—Pittsburg Dispatch.

Their Way In Russia

(Copyright, 1904, by C. B. Lewis.)

I landed in Russia twenty years ago on strictly lawful business—to look for the heirs to some property in the western part of the United States, and my information led me direct to the city of Narva. Before I had been in the place two hours the chief of police called and let me know that I was considered "suspicious."

He told me that Peter Bogoff, whose heirs I was seeking, had been strongly suspected of nihilism before he died and that a warrant would have been served had he lived a day longer. This was as good as telling me that I would get into trouble if I prosecuted any inquiries, but I foolishly determined to beard the lion in his den.

Thinking I might better carry on the business from St. Petersburg, I departed for that city after a few days and at once called upon a lawyer. He was sharp enough to realize that I would not have taken the long journey unless the property was of considerable value, and without any beating around the bush he told me that he would find the heirs and put the matter through for the sum of $5,000. This was rank robbery, and I refused to submit to it, and as a result soon discovered that no lawyer would have anything to do with the case at all.

Not only that, but I was soon summoned to the office of the chief of police. He was very polite, but at the same time it was easy to read his hypocrisy. He first secured possession of my passport, which, he claimed, needed some slight amendment, and then began to question me. He kept me on the rack for three long hours and then had the impudence to offer me his hand as I departed.

I went straight from his office to that of a private detective agency to set inquiries on foot. The superintendent entered into the matter with considerable earnestness and agreed to dispatch a man to Narva that evening to secure the wished for information.

I returned to the hotel feeling rather jubilant at outwitting the police, but this state of feeling did not last long. Within an hour the superintendent of the agency called to inform me that he must drop the case, turning me off with the excuse that he was too busy to attend to it.

He had scarcely departed before the proprietor of the hotel came to my room and politely asked me to vacate it. He would not admit that it was the work of the police, but I had no trouble in coming to that conclusion.

I finally got rooms in a boarding house after being refused at every other hotel, and for a week the police let me alone. I had made the long journey to find the heirs of Bogoff and close a deal for the land. I had not been provided with money to bribe any one, and I must either defy the police and work up the case single handed or return and report a failure.

Being firmly convinced that Mrs. Bogoff was in Narva, I secretly left the capital for that town one night. Securing rooms in a boarding house after my arrival and disguising my personal appearance to a considerable extent, I prosecuted my inquiries under one excuse and another until I at length discovered the woman. She was living in her own house and in poor circumstances and was rejoiced at the prospect of selling the land.

I now had to give my case away by calling on a notary to make out the papers, and in less than half a day the police were at my heels again. They not only warned every notary at Narva, but the widow was obliged to flee the city and go into hiding.

Things might have stopped there had I been a cool and placid man. When I found the police hounding me again I lost my temper and gave the chief my candid opinion of things in general and of his own conduct in particular. As a natural sequence I was promptly arrested, though just what the technical charge was I never learned.

I was taken to jail and confined in a cell with a man waiting trial for robbery. He seemed to be a thorough villain, but as he could not speak a word of English nor I a word of Russian we hit it off by letting each other severely alone. As soon as incarcerated I asked to communicate with the American minister, but was refused.

On the third day the chief of police sent for me and asked me if I would leave Russia if given my liberty. I replied in the negative and was returned to prison. My threats that the matter would be thoroughly sifted by our representative only made him smile, and he quietly informed me that he would keep me in prison for the rest of my life if I did not agree to his terms.

On the seventh day he sent for me again. I had now changed my mind, realizing that I could even be sent on to Siberia if the police so desired and that there was no longer the slightest hope of accomplishing my errand. I therefore answered him that I was ready and willing to leave the czar's dominions at a moment's notice, and an hour later, in charge of four police officers, I was on my way to a steamer leaving port that night.

I was locked in a stateroom, forbidden to hold communication with any one and was not released from duress until after twenty-four hours. I found people of all nationalities on the boat, but got no sympathy from any of them. On the contrary, I was called an idiot for my conduct, and all agreed that I might have been packed off to Siberia without any one but the police being the wiser.

Use Shoffner's Sure Cure

The Great Tonic and Blood Purifier—Cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia and Catarrh.

It is a trite and true saying that the "blood is the life." Now where does the blood come from? Everybody knows, or should know, that it comes from the nutritive elements extracted by the stomach from the food we eat. If the digestive organs do not perform their functions by reason of disease germs, there is no nutrition extracted, and the food might better be thrown in the dump to decay and breed germs in the open air than to remain in the stomach and become a rotten, putrid mass, as it naturally does if there is no digestion. No disease germ can live and find lodgment in a human body that uses the Shoffner's Sure Cure. Price $1.00.

W. C. Gray

"She's riz two inches in th' last two hours," he announced, "and she's runnin' like a mill-race." Solly was a typical north country tug captain, short and broad, with a brown, clear face and the steadiest and calmest of steel blue eyes. "When she begins to feel th' pressure behind," he went on, "there's goin' to be trouble."

Toward dusk she began to feel that pressure. Through the rainy twilight the logs could be seen raising their ghostly arms of protest. Slowly, without tumult, the jam formed. In the rear they pressed in, were sucked under in the swift water and came to rest at the bottom of the river. The current of the river began to protest, pressing its hydraulics through the narrowing crevices. The situation demanded attention.

A breeze began to pull offshore in the body of rain. Little by little it increased, sending the water by in gusts, ruffling the already hurrying river into greater haste, raising far from the shore dimly perceived whitecaps. Between the roaring of the wind, the dash of rain and the rush of the stream men had to shout to make themselves heard.

"Guess you'd better rout out the boss," screamed Solly to Wallace Carpenter. "This water's comin' up an inch an hour right along. When she backs up once she'll push this jam out sure."

Wallace ran to the boarding house and roused his partner from a heavy sleep. The latter understood the situation at a word. While dressing he explained to the younger man wherein lay the danger.

"If the jam breaks once," said he, "nothing top of earth can prevent it from going out into the lake, and there it'll scatter heaven knows where. Once scattered it's practically a total loss."

They felt blindly through the rain in the direction of the lights on the tug and pile driver. Shearer, the water dripping from his flaxen mustache, joined them like a shadow. At the river he announced his opinion. "We can hold her all right," he assured them. "It'll take a few more piles, but by morning the storm'll be over, and she'll begin to go down again."

The three picked their way over the creaking, swaying timber. But when they reached the pile driver they found trouble afoot. The crew had mutinied and refused longer to drive piles under the face of the jam.

"If she breaks away she's going to bury us," said they.

"She won't break," snapped Shearer. "Get to work."

"It's dangerous," they objected sullenly.

"You get off this driver!" shouted Solly. "Go over and lie down in a ten acre lot and see if you feel safe there!"

He drove them ashore with a storm of profanity and a multitude of kicks, his steel blue eyes blazing.

"There's nothing for it but to get the boys out again," said Tim. "I kinder hate to do it."

But when the Fighting Forty, half asleep but dauntless, took charge of the driver a catastrophe made itself known. One of the ejected men had tripped the lifting chain of the hammer after another had knocked away the heavy preventing block, and so the hammer had fallen into the river and was lost. None other was to be had. The pile driver was useless.

A dozen men were at once dispatched for cables, chains and wire ropes from the supply at the warehouse.

"It's part of the same trick," said Thorpe grimly. "Those fellows have their men everywhere among us. I don't know whom to trust."

"You think it's Morrison & Daly?" queried Carpenter, astonished.

"Think? I know it. They know as well as you or I that if we save these logs we'll win out in the Stock Exchange, and they're not such fools as to let us save them if it can be helped."

"What are you going to do now?"

"The only thing there is to be done. We'll string heavy booms chained together between the cribs and then trust to heaven they'll hold. I think we can hold the jam. The water will begin to flow over the bank before long, so there won't be much increase of pressure over what we have now, and as there won't be any shock to withstand I think our heavy booms will do the business."

He turned to direct the boring of some long boom logs in preparation for the chains. Suddenly he whirled again to Wallace with so strange an expression in his face that the young man almost cried out. The uncertain light of the lanterns showed dimly the streaks of rain across his countenance, and his eye flared with a look almost of panic.

"I never thought of it," he said in a low voice. "Fool that I am! I don't see how I missed it. Wallace, don't you see what those devils will do next?"

"No. What do you mean?" gasped the younger man.

"There are 12,000,000 feet of logs up river in Sadler & Smith's drive. Don't you see what they'll do?"

"No, I don't believe!"

"Just as soon as they find out that the river is booming and that we are

CHAPTER XXXII.

RAPIDLY Thorpe explained what was to be done and thrust his rifle into the Indian's hands. The latter listened in silence and stolidity, then turned and without a word departed swiftly in the darkness. The two white men stood a minute attentive. Nothing was to be heard but the steady beat of rain and the roaring of the wind.

Near the bank of the river they encountered a man visible only as an uncertain black outline against the glow of the lanterns beyond. Thorpe, stopping him, found Big Junko.

"This is no time to quit," said Thorpe sharply.

"I ain't quittin'," replied Big Junko.

"Where are you going, then?"

Junko was partially and stammeringly unresponsive.

"Looks bad," commented Thorpe. "You'd better get back to your job."

"Yes," agreed Junko helplessly. In the momentary slack tide of work the giant had conceived the idea of searching out the driver crew for purposes of pugilistic vengeance. Thorpe's suspicions stung him, but his simple mind could see no direct way to explanation.

ITALIAN LABORER KILLED BY TRAIN

He Was Working on the Track at the Time.

Hopkinsville Man Gets a Good Appointment on Tennessee Division.

OTHER RAILROAD NEWS

Salvatore Pelino was instantly killed a mile south of Covington, Tenn., by the southbound accommodation. He was working on the track and did not see the approaching train. Pelino was 54 years old, and his home was in Vallecoco, Italy.

E. M. Sherwood, agent of the Illinois Central and Tennessee Central railroad at Hopkinsville has been appointed traveling freight agent of the Illinois Central, with headquarters at Jackson, Tenn. His successor has not yet been appointed.

The I. C. has issued a new folder more complete than any folder it has issued in some time. The folder describes the train and equipment of the road and shows some excellent views of the bridges, tunnels and scenery along its lines. The folders arrived here last night for distribution.

Mr. Clarence Knowles, superintendent of water supply on the Louisville division of the I. C., was in the city yesterday on business. Mr. Knowles is expecting material for the water main extension to the coal chute in the south end yards here in a few days and work will begin on the extension as soon as it arrives. The water tank material will also arrive with the piping and work on the tank will progress with the excavating.

GOOD SHOW AT PARK.

This week the show at Wallace park is drawing well and Supt. Gus Thompson, of the street car company, intends to give the people the best thing they have ever seen in the way of summer entertainment. Next week he will have on the boards at the park Casino one of the strongest vaudeville companies ever seen in Paducah, winter season not excepted. Every member of the company is an artist and Mr. Thompson is to be congratulated on his good fortune in securing such a company.

The summer girl was probably born with an ice cream spoon in her mouth.

STABBED TO DEATH

Will Cantrill Killed in Louisville Sunday.

Is Said to Have Been Wanted in Paducah For Murder.

A negro said to be wanted in Paducah for murder was killed in Louisville Sunday. Will Cantrill, or Cantrill, is the name he went by there. He and Robert W. Johnson, colored, engaged in a fight. Cantrill had been "bullying" the other man for some time, and Sunday, while both were drinking, they had a fight and Johnson stabbed the other seven times. The wounded man died while being carried from the ambulance into the city hospital.

The Louisville Herald says in its account:

"Both negroes came to this city from Nashville about one year ago. The police of the First district station were told after the murder that Cantrill was wanted at Paducah for murder, and that Johnson is wanted in Tennessee for murder. Johnson denied this."

Cantrill may have been one of the numerous negroes who committed crimes in Paducah and escaped, but he is not known here by that name.

TRIAL FOR LUNACY

CLIFTON CENTER WILL BE ARRANGED TOMORROW.

Clifton Center, the young harness-maker who has suddenly become demented, will tomorrow morning at 8:30 o'clock be tried before County Judge R. T. Lightfoot for lunacy.

He has been in jail since Saturday and was examined again this morning by the city physician and County Attorney Graves, and it was decided to try him for lunacy at once. Center is getting worse and refused to leave his cell this morning. He tears up paper and does other things to indicate derangement.

Center was first arrested Saturday morning for acting in a demented way, and was later released but re-arrested Saturday night a short time after he had been released.

Center Saturday afternoon late seemed to be all right. He claimed to have been drinking.

AUTOMATIC GATES

Will be Working in About Two Weeks.

The Operators' Houses Now Being Built in Central City.

Supervisor W. C. Waggener, of the Louisville division of the I. C., who has charge of all buildings and bridges, was in the city today on business and stated that within two weeks the automatic gates to be installed by the I. C. here, would be in operation.

The houses for the gate operators are being built in Central City. Mr. Waggener's headquarters, where he can personally see to their proper construction. The houses stand high above the ground and will be shipped here on cars and mounted immediately on arrival. The work of putting up the gates is a small matter compared with the building of the houses.

NOT READY

THE COUNCIL DID NOT ACT ON THE TERRELL CONTRACT LAST NIGHT.

The matter of accepting the seven blocks of street paved by Mr. Ed C. Terrell did not come up before the council last night, as when it does come up it will be in the shape of awarding him estimates against property owners, and the estimates are not ready. City Engineer Washington is working hard on them, but may not finish for several days. When he does the boards will act in awarding them.

A DELIGHTFUL PLACE TO SPEND THE SUMMER.

In the highlands and mountains of Tennessee and Georgia, along the line of the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis railway, may be found many health and pleasure resorts, such as Monteagle, Sewanee, Lookout Mountain, Berea Springs, Bon Aqua Springs, East Brook Springs, Estill Springs, Nicholson Springs and many others. The bracing climate, splendid mineral waters, romantic and varied scenery combine to make these resorts unusually attractive to those in search of rest and health.

A beautifully illustrated folder has been issued by the N. C. and St. L. railway and will be sent to any one free of charge.

QUARTERLY COURT

TWO CASES DECIDED BY JUDGE LIGHTFOOT.

County Judge R. T. Lightfoot yesterday afternoon tried two cases on the quarterly docket.

They were Mattil-Eminger & Co. against H. A. Rose, for account amounting to about $50. The judgment was for the plaintiff.

The other suit was decided in favor of the defendant. It was R. P. Morris against the Mutual Savings and Investment company, on contract. The young man made a contract with the company but was not allowed to fulfill it and sued for the balance of salary he would have gotten had he served his contract time out. The amount was small. Attorneys Eaton and Drake appeared for the plaintiff in the former and for the defendant in the latter case.

Knights Templar, and friends to the Conclave, San Francisco. Low round trip rate $49.65 limited, return October 23. Leave Paducah August 29, visit World's Fair and stops arranged. Sight seeing Colorado and Utah via Illinois Central, Missouri Pacific Railway, Denver & Rio Grande Scenic Line, etc. Don't miss this opportunity to see California at cheapest rates ever offered and join the Kentucky special train. Every one welcomed. See Dr. Whitesides at once for itinerary of trip, sleeper reservations, etc., or address R. T. G. Matthews, T. P. A. Missouri Pacific Railway, Louisville, Ky.

FREE RECLINING CHAIR CARS TO THE WORLD'S FAIR.

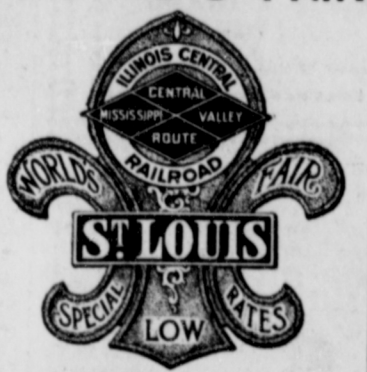

The Southern Railway has inaugurated a line of free reclining chair cars on the night trains between Lexington, Louisville and St. Louis through without change in each direction, in addition to the through sleepers and coaches heretofore operated.

These are brand new vestibuled cars with all the latest improvements, including smoking compartment, separate wash rooms for ladies and gentlemen, lighted by Pines gas. These reclining chair cars are sure to prove popular with the patrons of the road as they are very comfortable and at night the chairs can be turned back, and used instead of the Pullman sleeper without any extra charge. Any passenger holding a regular through ticket over the Southern Railway is entitled to ride in these cars.
